School - Class Assignments

We believe you will benefit from working with all the teachers. Therefore, in most cases we recommend that you take all the classes, especially students seeking credit. Drawing is the core of the curriculum. Students are encouraged to be in drawing class every day, whether the teacher is present or not. All studios are open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for independent work.

Credit

Our students may receive credit from their home institutions for work done at the International School, based on a transcript. To receive a transcript, send $10 per transcript with your transcript request form to the school office.

Withdrawal schedule, refunds

If you have to leave the School Program early, you are entitled to a refund as follows:

Before session begins - Full refund less an administrative fee of € 500

Days 1 - 7: 75% of tuition paid

Days 8 - 14: 50% of tuition paid

After day 14: no refund

If you have to leave the Residence or CE early, you are entitled to a refund as follows:

Before session begins - Full refund less an administrative fee of € 500

Days 1 - 7: 50% of fee paid

After day 7: no refund

YOUR HEALTH & INSURANCE

Read the following paragraphs about health and insurance and complete the housing and insurance form you received with your letter of acceptance. You must return the information to us before your session begins.

Medical and accident insurance for yourself is your responsibility. Review whatever insurance policy you have, and make sure it covers you for illnesses and accidents overseas. You must have coverage for this trip. If you do not already have adequate insurance for the time you will be at the International School, we require that you subscribe to a travellers insurance policy, such as Access America's, which provides travel-related protection and assistance in addition to medical, accident, and cancellation insurance. To get information on Access America's travelers policies, or to enroll, call their toll-free number: 1-800-284-8300. How you insure yourself is your choice, but you must let us know that you are insured.

For more information on Italy for US travelers to Italy see the US embassy Consular Information Sheet: <http://travel.state.gov/>. In addition to monitoring the news, the Department of State's web site has information concerning the safety and security of American citizens overseas and all consular information documents, including the Worldwide Caution Public Announcement. The Department of Homeland Security's web site <http://www.dhs.gov/xtrvlsec/> also provides useful travel information.

Health and Physical Considerations

International travel can be stressful and fatiguing. It is important for all participants to be realistic about their physical condition and ability to maintain an intensive schedule. The International School's facilities are best suited to people who are mobile and are able to climb steps without difficulty. The program involves a great deal of walking, standing, climbing stairs, getting on and off busses, carrying your own baggage and art supplies, doing physical work, and sometimes climbing hilly or uneven terrain. Applicants should definitely be ambulatory and endowed with stamina. It would be inappropriate for physically challenged (including heart trouble, walking problems, or any serious diseases or acute allergies) people to enroll. Students who are in good health and are able to keep up with the demands of a physically active program without assistance should have no problems. Unfortunately, the International School's capacity to serve people with disabilities is limited. Accommodations, classrooms and transportation are not as well suited to serve the needs of people with disabilities as those found in modern cities. Please enclose a letter with your housing and insurance form describing your particular needs, and we will review whether your needs can be met. If not, we will do our best to find you a suitable alternative.

Preparation and Trips

You are about to see some of the greatest art ever created. Italy is said to have a larger percentage of the world's art treasures than any other country. To prepare yourself for classes and trips, we recommend that you gain some familiarity with the work of the following art and artists before you come to Italy:

19-20C:	Balthus, Corot, Carra', Cezanne, de Chirico, Ingres, Giacometti, Marini, Matisse, Morandi, Sironi
17-18C:	Bernini, Caravaggio, Poussin, Rembrandt, Rubens, Tiepolo, Velasquez
16C:	Giorgione, Michelangelo, Pontormo, Raphael, Tintoretto, Titian
15C:	Beato Angelico, Donatello, Ghiberti, Masaccio, Piero della Francesca
13-14C:	Cimabue, Duccio, Giotto, Nicola and Giovanni Pisano
1C:	Roman fresco painting
Sculpture:	Classical Greek, Etruscan, Roman, Romanesque.

You will enjoy trip days if you do some preparation beforehand. We suggest you bring a Michelin Guide or something similar. Our trips are not guided tours: after a lecture one or two nights before, everyone is on his own, to tour around with friends, with teachers, or alone. Usually we meet for dinner. Meals and museum admissions on trip days are not included in your tuition and fees. A typical trip day starts at 7 AM when the bus leaves. Most bus trips are about 2 hours long; the bus drops us within walking distance of the center of the city, and picks us up at a specified time and location. We return to Umbria on Rome and Florence days around midnight or 1 AM; Assisi / Perugia and Arezzo are smaller cities and shorter trips. We encourage students to travel over the weekends after the trips.

We have found that what people get out of this program is in direct proportion to what they put into it. We look forward to working with you and wish you an exciting and productive summer.

TRAVEL TO SCHOOL

Getting from Rome to Montecastello with the group

You made it! Welcome to Italy!

We will have a bus at Fiumicino (Leonardo da Vinci) Airport in Rome on Saturday at noon to take you directly to the School on the first day of your session:

School:	May 24; June 14; July 5; July 26
Residence and CE:	May 10; August 16; August 30; September 20
Seminar:	August 16

This will enable people arriving in Rome that morning or prior to that day to meet and travel to Montecastello together. In case you're looking for our bus, the name Provenzani is written on the side.

Where to meet us at the airport:

When you exit the baggage claims area, go to your left into Terminal B. At noon, meet in the open cafe on the GROUND floor of Terminal B, just outside the baggage claim area. The cafe has large, bright orange signs which say "Market--Bar Chef Express-- Pizza & Vini" and yellow chairs. Next to it are 2 glass elevators which go to the upper levels of Terminal B where there are shops, bookstores and other eating places. They take all currencies. You can sit there and have a drink. Soon you should see a few other people who look like they're carrying art supplies with their baggage. They'll probably be carrying this booklet, too. Then we will walk you to our bus in the parking lot. If it doesn't take too long to get everyone on the bus, we'll arrive at the School around 2:30, have lunch, and show you your rooms and studios. If you miss us, take the SULGA bus from the airport to Todi at and we will come and get you (see Traveling from Rome to Montecastello by bus).

Please let us know your flight number and expected arrival time! If we don't know when to meet you, we may leave the airport without you.

Fiumicino flight information: tel. 06 65951

Umbria International airport S. Egidio, Perugia: tel. 075 592141.

Coming to Montecastello on your own

Let us know when and how you will arrive in Montecastello. Call or fax the Montecastello office: +39-075-8780072 or email us or leave a message or fax at the US toll-free voicemail number: (866) 449-3604. You can save yourself time and money if we know where and when to expect you. When travelling in Italy, always carry your passport, even on group trips. The job of the carabinieri (police) is to check things out. It's easier to explain who you are if you have your documents.

At the airport

When you arrive at Fiumicino Airport in Rome, there will be two passport control lines, one for members of the European Union, and the other for everybody else. The airport provides free luggage wagons. A portable luggage cart is also handy to have. You can change money for Euro (enough for the weekend and to buy art supplies for class on Monday) at the bank in the arrivals lobby in Terminal B, or the CAMBIO counter, which is at the far right end as you face the windows, both conveniently near the bathrooms. The exchange rates at the airport are good. If you have to wait a long time, on the 3rd floor there are fairly comfortable seats, restaurants and stores.

If you can't find your luggage, check at the far end of the baggage area, and in Left Luggage, located on the arrivals level of Terminal C, open every day from 7 AM - 11 PM, or in the piles in the corners of the room. Don't worry: if your luggage has been delayed, it will be delivered to you at the school, usually in 2-3 days. Make a report at the airport. You may also be entitled to a reimbursement from the airline. Many airport personnel speak English and can help. Left luggage fees: 0-7 hours: € 2; 7-24 hrs: € 3.50; from 2nd day on: € 3.50 per day. Unconventional luggage (larger or odd shaped): € 6 per day.

Travelling from Rome to Montecastello by bus

The easiest and fastest way to get to the Todi area is by bus. There is an express bus to Todi from the airport. Follow signs to the left out of the arrivals area for Tourist Bus: go across the street, past the taxi drivers (who are kind of aggressive), and head left to the bus parking lot. There is a ramp for your luggage cart. This bus also stops at Stazione Tiburtina in the center of Rome, if you want to catch it there. The airport is 45 minutes from the center of Rome. If you miss the bus at the airport, you can also get to Stazione Tiburtina by train: take the elevator upstairs to the train station. Trains leave every 20 minutes. Otherwise, a taxi to the center of Rome costs about € 40.

The bus pulls in the “Parceggio Bus Turistici” 15-20 minutes early. It’s blue, says Todi on the destination sign in front, and has SULGA written on the side. The driver will help you to put your luggage under the bus. Take the bus to Pian di Porto. That is the stop closest to the school. You’ll buy your ticket from the conductor on the bus during the trip. The bus costs about € 15. Now, relax! You’re in Italy!

* On request call 335 7490410 or toll-free 800099661.

The bus brings you to the API gas station/caffe in nearby Pian di Porto. You can call us in Montecastello (075 878 0072) from Rome to tell us where and when you will arrive by bus, and someone will meet you when you arrive and take you to the School. (See TELEPHONE.) Or call when you get off the bus.

Todi taxi points:

- Piazza Garibaldi: tel. 075 894 2375
- Piazza Jacopone: tel. 075 894 2525

Travel tip (for serious museum-goers)

If you fly on a European airline like KLM, British Airways, or Air Iberia, you will stop in Amsterdam, London or Madrid on your way to or from Rome. These are usually discounted flights. There are 2-3 flights out of these cities every day. You can arrange your ticket so you leave on a later flight, at no extra cost. Instead of hanging around the airport, spend a few hours at the Rijksmuseum, National Gallery or Prado and see the city.

Travelling from Rome to Montecastello by train

If you can’t make the bus or if you miss it, you can get a train to Todi Ponte Rio from Termini Station in Rome. The trip may take anywhere from three to four hours, but if you relax it’s not bad. Take your airport luggage cart up the elevator to the second floor of the airport and go to the train station. Leonardo Express is a direct train to Termini Station (every 30 minutes, € 9.50) and the Metropolitana goes to Stazione Tiburtina (5 stops, € 5.00), if you want to get the Todi bus.

Pay attention to your belongings! Termini station, unfortunately, is a notorious spot for thieves, pickpockets and derelicts. Be especially alert for groups of poor Gypsy children (sometimes with a mother and baby) begging—while several try to confuse and distract you, sometimes with a card or piece of paper in your face, one can grab your wallet out of your bag or pocket before you realize it. Make sure your money and valuables are not visible or accessible. If you find yourself being robbed, shout for help (Aiuto! Ah-YOO-toh)—the Romans don’t like thieves anymore than you do; civilians and police may run to help you.

Find the ticket office at Termini, get a one-way ticket to Terni (it's on the Ancona line) where you'll change for the local to Todi. Ask or look for Platform #2 (Binario Due). Get your ticket before you get on the train: otherwise there's a penalty. You may pay extra if there is an express, called rapido. Before you get on the train, notice whether the number on the side of the car is a 1 or a 2, which tells you for which class that car is designated; be sure to stamp your ticket in the yellow machines on the platform to avoid a stiff penalty. Get on the train early to get a seat. Within Stazione Termini, luggage carts are free to use. Find them near the station entrances at either end of the huge open corridor. You can check your baggage at Platform #1 (Binario Uno). It will be safe there. This helps if you have to wait and want some freedom to walk around.

There is a lot to see in the area surrounding Termini. If you have a map and a destination, you should be fine. You can rest in the waiting room near Binario Uno (#1) or at the opposite end of the station, or in the cafe in the center of the station. Or mornings, you can see the Museo Nazionale Romano in Piazza Cinquecento, with a great collection of Greek and Roman antique sculpture. It's straight across the piazza of the entrance to the station. The 5C church, Santa Maria Maggiore, is four blocks out of the station to the left, and is open all day.

When you get to Terni, buy your ticket (€ 2.55) to Todi Ponte Rio (pohnt-ay-REE-oh). Fratta Todina is the Montecastello stop, but there's no phone at the station, so don't go there. Ask at the ticket window what time the train leaves. Walk through the underpass and up the stairs to Platform 5. If there's a wait for the train, go into the cafe and have a coffee or a drink. The ride from Terni to Todi, a beautiful trip through the country, takes 40 minutes. They don't announce the stops on the train; if you can't see the station signs from your window, ask the nice people around you to tell you when you reach Todi. Call us in Montecastello (075 8780072) from Terni, and we may be able to meet you when you arrive.

From the north, take Firenze > Terontola > Perugia (Ferrovia dello Stato), change at Perugia Ponte San Giovanni for the local train (Ferrovia Centrale Umbra), get off at Todi Ponte Rio.

Termini Baggage consignment

€ 3.80 for the first 5 hours. Location: underground of the Termini wing

Travelling to Montecastello by car

You can ride in a limo from the airport to Montecastello for about € 250. There are also taxis aggressively waiting for passengers at the arrivals area. For about € 160, you can take our local car service. Call us to arrange an appointment for you. A taxi from Todi to Montecastello is about € 15.

Driving from the airport to Montecastello is an easy, two hour drive:

- Exit airport to ROMA: this puts you on a straight road (A7) into the city.
- Exit A7 for FIRENZE: this puts you on the G.R.A., a circle around Rome.
- At the top of the circle, bear right for the exit for FIRENZE, and head north onto A1, the Autostrada. Take a ticket at the tollbooth.
- After about 40 minutes, exit for ORTE. Pay the toll (€ 3,40 cash or credit card) and follow the sign for TERNI - PERUGIA. Stay on this road until the road divides: left for Terni, right for Perugia.
- Exit right for PERUGIA - CESENA, onto E45, towards PERUGIA. After 30 minutes or so you'll see Todi up on the left.

Benvenuti!

From the north, take A1 towards Roma, exit at VALDICHIANA, follow signs for PERUGIA > TERNI > ROMA (E45), exit Montecastello.

Local taxis with airport service:

Marco Di Lernia: tel. 075 894 8781, 347 774 8321

Driving notes

- Foreigners from outside of the European Community are expected to have International Driving Permits to drive in Italy. You can buy one at an Automobile Club, or in the US at AAA. All you need is a driver's license and 2 photos.
- Police have the right to stop and search for routine checks. Always carry your passport, driver's license and vehicle registration when driving.
- Beware of speeding; tickets are very expensive, and they use cameras to catch you. Speed limits are posted on the roads.
- Stay out of the left lane unless you are passing; Italian drivers have a unique way of asking you to get out of their way, and they drive fast: they will follow 2 inches behind you, flashing their bright lights.
- Keep your headlights on always, it's the law.
- Most hill towns and city centers are closed to traffic, but have parking areas (P) a short walk from the center. Do not drive inside these towns if you are not ready for very narrow streets. And definitely don't drive inside Montecastello.
- Just because there are parking meters does not mean you are allowed to park: you may even need a permit to be in the area.
- Don't leave valuables in the car in Rome or any other big city.
- If you break down, call 116 for ACI (Automobile Club Italiano).
- Have at least € 100 in cash for emergencies.

Common service-station scams on the autostrade

You can drive securely in Italy, we have the best mechanics anywhere. But sometimes, at the gas station on the autostrada, the attendant may try to take advantage of you.

Checking the oil: they will show you how dirty it is, and try to get you to change it. Of course it's dirty, it's in the engine! Just say, No, grazie.

The air filter: this is a good one. They show you how dirty it is. What do you expect, clean air in the engine?

TELEPHONE

Public phones in Italy use magnetic cards, which you can buy at tobacconists (look for a dark blue sign with a white "T" outside), newsstands and post offices. Ask for a carta telefonica. Rip off the perforated corner as indicated, and insert the card in the upper slot of the box on the right side of the telephone. Throughout your call, a digital display on the phone shows how much credit is available. When the card is used up or when you hang up, the machine ejects the card through the bottom slot. Don't forget to take your card before you leave! All calls in Italy (except mobile numbers and toll-free 800 numbers) require the city code which starts with "0", even in the same area code.

Many restaurants and cafes have metered phones, like Giovanni's Bar Centrale in Montecastello, and in Todi's tourist office (Pro Todi) in Piazza del Popolo. You ask the attendant or cashier for a line, and after you've finished, they tell you how much to pay.

Please call home soon after you arrive, or your family may worry and try to call you.

Making and receiving calls and faxes at the school

Friends and relatives can call you during mealtimes or after classes at the phone inside the main studio building in Montecastello near the dining room: +39-075 8780739. There is also a pay phone booth in town which accepts phone cards. For a brief call, you can also ask permission to use the metered phone at Giovanni's cafe: 075 8780443, but please don't tie up the phones with lengthy credit card or collect calls.

If you want to receive a fax, use the Montecastello office number: +39-075 8780072, or in the US, toll-free: (866) 449-3604. Please limit the number of pages to 2-3. We can also send a fax for you from the office. One page to the US costs € 1.50. Phone messages and faxes will be folded and posted for you on the bulletin board in the dining room. In an emergency, people may call or fax the office in Montecastello. Our answering machine will automatically receive a fax or a voice message, 24 hours every day. From the US dial 011-39-075-8780072.

For US rates, you can access an operator in the States:

MCI: 800-90-5825; AT&T: 800-172-444; Sprint: 800-172-405 or 406

US 800 toll-free numbers are not accessible from Italy, but you can try 880 instead. There will be a charge for the international portion of the call. If you buy a phone card be sure to get the international access number to use from Italy. For an operator-assisted call outside of Europe, dial 170. (The telephone book has other country-direct access codes.)

Mobile phones in Italy use the GSM network. For your mobile phone to work it should be at least tri-band or GSM. Tri-band phones work in the US and in Europe. Some American mobile phones, even GSM phones, don't necessarily work in Europe. For assurance, look for a new device called a phase 2+ compatible phone. Request that your service provider turn on the international service. Smart travellers buy local SIM cards in the area they're visiting and use them for local calls. Most American wireless carriers sell "locked" phones rigged so you can't swap out the SIM card unless you get the code that unlocks the phone. US mobile users should change the network band from 1900MHz to 900/1800MHZ when they arrive.

Email

You can send and receive email on the School library computer. Some university servers do not allow outside connections, so you may want to use a free web mail account like Gmail, Hotmail, or Yahoo. If you don't have one of these permanent email addresses, just go to one of those web sites and sign up. We have a satellite ADSL Internet connection and two computers at the school. If you have a laptop, bring an Ethernet cable and you can plug into the switch.

WHAT TO PACK

Carry essentials with you on the plane (medicine, valuables, toiletries, extra underwear, and toothbrush) in case your luggage gets lost or delayed. Please see <http://www.tsa.gov/travelers/airtravel/prohibited/permitted-prohibited-items.shtml> for Permitted and Prohibited Items.

Clothes: Montecastello is 423 meters (1388 feet) above sea level and therefore is cooler than most cities. You may sometimes want a long-sleeved cotton shirt and even a sweater. During June through August it's hot at midday, although it's much cooler inside the thick stone walls of our buildings. Summer mornings and evenings are pleasant. May and September are mild. In general, bring light clothes, and a hat to keep your head cool when you're working outdoors. Please dress a little more modestly than you would in a casual environment in hot weather back home, out of politeness to the townspeople (and self-preservation: see Inconveniences in Montecastello). Be prepared for an occasional rain and some cool evenings, or a heat wave. Bring something festive for parties, leather-soled shoes if you like dancing, and whatever you'd like to wear to openings, a concert, or other special evening events. Bring a good pair of walking shoes for trips. For working out in the countryside, your feet and ankles should be well protected against creatures and plants that bite or sting (like vipers! See Viper Supplement). On trips, men and women should plan to keep shoulders and knees covered in churches.

Electronics: Use only 220 volt appliances, or bring a 220 volt converter. Make sure the type is appropriate for the appliance you're going to use. Laptops come with AC Adapters. Look on the power supply for "Input: V 100-120-220-240." This means it works both in the US (110 Volts) and Italy (220). All you will need is an inexpensive international plug adaptor which you can buy at most airports. Look for a European two-pin plug (Europlug), or a German or Italian plug.

Money: No one can predict what exchange rates will be. Banks do not all offer the same rate of exchange, but the bank at the airport usually has the best rate. Some, like the one in Montecastello, charge a flat commission for traveller's checks or cash. You can minimize the commission if a group exchanges money in one transaction. At this writing, one Euro equalled about 1.56 US Dollars.

You may spend money for a coffee or for bottled water for your room, € 0.50-1.00; snacks or gelato (ice cream), € 0.55-1.55; museum admissions, € 2-15; and of course, art supplies, average € 150-300 for the session, eating out on trip days and shopping (your choice!). Some people consider Italy expensive, but everyone's needs are different. Bring at least as much as you would normally spend at home, and a little extra. (Your meals are included in your tuition, except on trip days.) Also bring:

- Mosquito repellent (our mosquitoes are legendary): see Mosquito Supplement
- A small flashlight (for the occasional power failure)
- Laundry bag
- A few wire hangers if you have lots of clothes
- A beach towel for going to the pool in Fratta or Todi or to have as an extra (towels are changed once a week)
- A washcloth if you use one
- A light robe for going between your room and the bathroom
- Music, if you'd like to contribute to the music mix for our parties; but if you want to listen to music during non-party hours, bring a portable music player and use earphones, because peace and quiet is paramount in this working and living environment
- Travel gum or Dramamine if you get car sick on long bus rides
- Over-the-counter medicines, may not be available without a prescription in Italy
- Earplugs if you are particularly sensitive to noise
- Travel alarm clock so you don't miss the bus on trip days
- Your Student Sourcebook.

Art Supplies

You should bring certain supplies with you, because you've already invested in them, and they may be more expensive in Italy (many things are). Materials you're used to may be different or unavailable there. You will be able to get the basics at the Student Art Supply Store. Bring your favorite materials if you're not sure. Expect to go through art supplies rapidly. You should also have:

- A French easel (highly recommended for outdoor painting; carry it on the plane, rather than checking it with baggage)
  - Pencils, push pins, blades, Chamois cloth (deerskin, for polishing cars)
  - Paints (pack it in sealed containers, it may freeze in the baggage compartment and expand; see security note below), brushes
  - If you plan to stretch your own canvases: stretcher pliers, brushes, palette knives, staple gun and staples (Italian staples won't fit in your staple gun)
- Clay and plaster for normal class projects are covered by your tuition. Easels, glass palettes, drawing boards and stretcher bars are available on loan from the school. Pre-stretched primed canvases are available in the Student Art Supply Store.

To avoid problems with airline security

Don't try to bring paints, solvents, knives, scissors or aerosol sprays in your hand luggage. Certain airlines, especially British Airways, consider paint of any kind hazardous and will confiscate it.

Tips For Travelling With Oil Painting Materials - Gamblin Artists Colors Newsletter
<http://www.gamblincolors.com/faq/oilcolors.html#q1>

If you want to ship art supplies, plan at least 2 weeks for delivery by mail or courier. Do not ship solvents or sprays. Ship to yourself (not the name of the school) at the address of the studio building:

Your name

2, via Unita d'Italia 06057 Montecastello di Vibio PG Italy

Anything shipped into or out of Italy to a non-EU country is subject to customs taxes. To avoid paying the 20% tax you must declare NO COMMERCIAL VALUE, or a minimum value of $10. However, if no value is declared, it can't be insured.

LIFE IN MONTECASTELLO

Montecastello di Vibio is one of the best-preserved medieval hill towns in Umbria. Not a tourist stop for Americans, the area around Montecastello is the summer home for Romans, Milanese, Germans, and English. But it is also a living town. Generation after generation of Montecastellese are born, marry, have children and die here.

The castle (il castello), the largest building in this tiny, intimate town, is a reminder of the feudal system. The feudal lord was the protector and the master of the villagers, who worked in his fields in the surrounding valley. Today, most of the townspeople have a piece of land of their own. In September, you can see them preserving tomatoes in their garages.

The beautiful, restored 18th century theater with only 99 seats, The Concordia, is called the smallest theater in Europe. It was honored in 2002 with its own postage stamp. Here, you can see some photo albums of the history of the town. It's amazing to see the old pictures of children playing in the same streets you see every day, and then walk outside and see those children, now with grown children of their own, watching their grandchildren play.

There are three grocery stores, each with its own specialty: the Tiglio Market has the biggest selection, Clara's has flowers; Il Mercatino, in the piazza, has a nice wine selection and typical Umbrian products. All stores sell housewares, Vape (VAH-pay) to repel mosquitoes, and personal care items. For a snack, we'll see you at the bakery, where Giovanni and Natalina bake fresh bread every day, cookies, cake and as well as pizza to go.

Banca Popolare di Todi is Montecastello's bank. If you need to change money for a trip day, be sure to do it the day before, because our bus leaves before the bank opens. CAMBIO means exchange. The ATM machine (Bancomat) at the bank does international transactions. The two public health clinics, with doctors, are open 3 weekday mornings and 2 afternoons a week, Monday-Friday. (The hospitals are in Todi and Marsciano, each 15 minutes by car. There are major hospitals in Perugia, 40 minutes' drive.) There is also a pharmacy, two churches and a police station. For a cappuccino, ice cream, cigarettes or a snack, go to Giovanni and Anna Rita's Bar Centrale on the piazza with the awe-inspiring view of Todi. The bar is closed Wednesdays, except in August. If you want to dine out for a change, the hotel Relais Il Castello has a nice restaurant with a terrace; Agriturismo Fattoria di Vibio tel. 0758749607 and Agriturismo Le Grazie tel. 0758796041 are other nearby favorites in Doglio.

A short drive from town in Pian di Porto there is a large supermarket and housewares store called Ipersidis. The selection there is positively stunning compared to the village stores in Montecastello. They even have bar-code readers.

Store hours:

- Bank: 8.20-13.20, 14.40-15.45 Mon-Fri
- Post Office: 8.30-13.30 Mon- Fri, Sat till 12.30
- Stores: 8-13, 17-20 Mon-Sat except closed Thursday afternoons

Recreation

Ballo liscio (BAHL-lo LEE-sho), country ballroom dancing, is the common language of young and old, rich and poor. Students can enjoy waltz, tango, foxtrot and polka to accordion music at the outdoor dance floor during festas in Montecastello. There is an outdoor cinema in Todi, open most summer nights. You can swim or play tennis at the Todi and Fratta Todina sports complexes (10-15 minutes by car from the school) or take long walks or a run on the beautiful paths and country roads around Montecastello. Be warm to the townspeople. Say buon giorno or buona sera. You may get invited home for coffee or dinner; you may even make lifelong friends.

Travel

You may rent a car for the summer or weekends from Hertz in Perugia, tel/fax +39-075 5002439. Ask for our neighbor, Rita Capociuchi. However, renting through a large company abroad may be less expensive. If you want to make or change some travel plans, Elisa at Cocoon Travel in Ponterio, tel. 075 8987364 or fax 075 8987366, speaks English perfectly. If you go away for the weekend, make arrangements in advance for someone to pick you up at the station. Staff members are not available to provide this service. If you need to travel by train, let us know in advance and we'll help you.

Housekeeping

We will assign studios, housemates and roommates before you arrive. If you're not happy with your situation at first, we suggest that you wait a few days and see if things improve. We're flexible, but don't want to make hasty changes. Our housekeeping staff will clean apartments and change sheets and towels every week. Smoking is not allowed in bedrooms, classrooms or the dining room. Smokers can enjoy the scenic terrace on the roof. You can do your laundry in the studio building: we have a washing machine, an iron, ironing board and a clothesline outside. For hand washing, basins and drying racks are provided in each apartment.

Some tips on not gaining weight in Italy

At the International School, some people eat better than they've ever eaten before. Thanks to our wholesome, regular meals, and lots of walking in fresh air, we've seen skin problems completely clear up, people lose weight, and by the end of the session they look so good we don't want to let them go. Yet some formerly fit and trim women and men who have good habits at home have succumbed to the perils of living in Italy. You can avoid these pitfalls! (If you are a man between 18 and 25 years old, you probably don't need to bother reading the following.) Avoid: second helpings of pasta, a big hunk of bread dripping with olive oil and salt with every meal, drinking lots of wine, cappuccino after meals (Italians drink it only in the morning anyway), a daily fix of Perugina Baci chocolate, and/or gelato. Drink lots of water, and take a walk now and then; it will also help you stay relaxed when your work builds up steam.

The Library

The school has a small art and reading library. Books should not be removed from the library, except designated lending books, so that everyone can use them and teachers have access to them for class. We gratefully welcome donations of books. The school also has a DVD and a multisystem VCR, if you would like to bring any videos.

Emergencies

The home of Director Marc Servin is down the street from Bar Centrale; ring the doorbell or call his home number: 075 8780482, or the office phone number: 075 8780072. Marc's mobile phone number is 348 8701011. (See back page for more Useful Numbers.) The local doctor lives over the Macelleria (butcher shop). If you are running out of money, you can receive a money transfer by Western Union.

Inconveniences in Montecastello

The population of Montecastello is only about 250 very nice people (more on weekends; people from the city come here for vacations). Very few people speak any English. Women may find that their natural openness and friendliness is misinterpreted by some local men who are looking for their next conquest; so until you learn the culture it's wise to dress and behave with a bit of reserve around the town.

There are teenage boys who shout and ride around on loud motorcycles. Here in Umbria, like the rest of the world, we need to keep our doors locked if we want to protect our valuables. The school office has a small safe for students to use. Studio building and apartment doors should be kept closed during the day and locked at night.

We're in a picturesque medieval village in the country, on top of a hill. There is only one place to buy cigarettes. The public telephone in the piazza has frequent breakdowns. There is no public transportation to Todi. If you feel isolated or like to travel freely, you may want to rent a car, but gas is expensive (about € 1.20 per liter, $6.50 a gallon).

The apartments in Montecastello are in very old stone buildings, and even though they are renovated and cleaned weekly there may be some dust and mold. The water pressure is not as strong and the hot water not as abundant as you may be accustomed to. If there's a drought, the town will actually shut off the water supply. Every time there is a lightning storm or the wind blows hard there are power failures. The bathrooms in some Montecastello apartments are very basic. If you take long showers or wash your hair daily, be prepared to adapt. The tap water is okay for brushing your teeth or making coffee or tea but it has lots of mineral deposits and is not good for drinking.

There are very hungry mosquitoes and tiny biting flies (June - August). Some people are particularly susceptible (see Mosquito supplement). The grocery stores sell a product called Vape (VAH-pay), a device that plugs into a wall socket and slowly burns an odorless insecticide while you sleep. It works. There are cats everywhere, so keep the studio doors shut to avoid “accidents”. There are even small scorpions, but don’t worry, they sting but they’re not poisonous (don’t leave your clothes on the floor). There are, however, poisonous snakes out in the fields (see Viper Supplement). Keep your ankles well-covered when you’re working out in the landscape, and avoid deep grass.

In the summer, especially in August, there are festas, with dancing and loud music until late at night. Bring earplugs if you like to go to sleep early (or dancing shoes if you don’t). Sometimes there are heat waves. Close your shutters when you leave your room in the morning and when you’re out of your studio during the day, it will stay much cooler.

During the first week of each month, the post office is filled with people picking up their pension checks. All stores close from 1-5 PM, but most stay open till 7 or 8 PM. All stores in Montecastello are closed Thursday afternoons. Giovanni’s bar is closed Wednesdays, except in August.

If there is an earthquake

We are very fortunate not to be in the area hard-hit by earthquakes in 1997. An earthquake is a natural phenomenon that can’t be predicted, and lasts a very short time, almost always less than a minute. Wherever you happen to be, it’s important to be calm and to know what to do. To be prepared for an earthquake, the National Seismic Service has some simple recommendations to follow that can save one’s life.

- Seek shelter inside a door in a sustaining wall or under a beam. Staying in the middle of a room could result in injury from falling plaster, breaking glass or other objects.
- Don’t run down the stairs: they are the weakest part of a building. Don’t use elevators, they may get stuck. In the street be aware that flowerpots, or tiles may fall from buildings.
- Shut down circuit-breakers and gas valves at the end of the quake, to avoid fire.
- Go outside at the end of the quake. Wear shoes: there may be broken glass in the street. Stay in an open space, away from buildings and electrical lines.
- Don’t block traffic. Emergency vehicles may have to get through. Use an automobile only in case of absolute necessity.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

We believe you will contribute positively to the program. All participants are expected to adhere to a code of conduct that respects the values and integrity of the community. They are also expected to obey local laws. The school reserves the right to require the withdrawal of anyone whose conduct is detrimental to the community or the school.

The unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs or the abuse of alcohol is prohibited. DO NOT bring drugs to Italy or use them there. DO NOT abuse alcohol. You risk arrest, the consequences could be incredibly harsh, and you will be required to leave the program.

The International School of Painting, Drawing and Sculpture is committed to a collegial work and study environment in which all individuals are treated with respect and dignity.

Each individual has the right to work and learn in a professional atmosphere which promotes equal opportunities and prohibits discriminatory practices, including sexual harassment. At the International School, sexual harassment, whether verbal, physical or environmental, is unacceptable and will not be tolerated. For purposes of this policy, sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome or unwanted advances, requests for sexual favors and any other verbal, visual, or physical conduct of a sexual nature when: (1) submission to or rejection of this conduct by an individual is used as a factor in or out of class or studio, in decisions affecting critiques, evaluation, hiring, retention, promotion or other aspects of education or employment; or (2) this conduct substantially interferes with an individual's work in or out of class or studio or employment, or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive classroom, studio or work environment.

Studio protocol

We have established these house rules to ensure a positive and productive working environment for everyone:

- Respect your colleagues' privacy. You can learn a lot from the other students, and they can learn from you, but don't enter someone's studio while they are working unless you're invited, and never give unasked-for critiques. Music is not allowed in classrooms or studios (use a portable music player). Please be considerate about sharing studio space.
- Do come to class on time, but if you come late, rather than disrupt the class, wait for a break to set up your things. Be considerate not to block anyone else's view.
- We need everyone's cooperation to help keep the studio facilities clean and safe. It is every participant's responsibility to keep their work area clean.
- Cover turpentine and mineral spirits to avoid fumes. Clean up garbage and wipe up spills. Use paper towels, not rags, to avoid combustion.
- Please turn off the lights when you leave a room.
- Close your windows or shutters when you leave the studio to make sure they won't blow open and break; there are occasional high winds, especially at night.
- Close the doors of the buildings when you go in and out, make sure they are locked at night.
- Spray-fix your drawings on the roof or outside, never inside.
- No photographs during models' poses.
- Visitors are not allowed in the school, and especially not in classes, unless they are accompanied by a member of the administration.
- In order to not dilute the work atmosphere, we discourage family and friends' visits during the School sessions. If a visit is scheduled, a weekend or Sunday Gallery opening is an appropriate time.
- We need to return the school buildings to their owners the way we found them. Be careful not to damage the walls, floors and furniture. We will provide dropcloths. Report anything that you notice that needs attention.
- You will be responsible for any damages to your studio and room. You must leave your studio and room the same way you found it: broom-swept, clean palettes, no garbage or open liquids.

To clean brushes, first wipe them thoroughly with a paper towel to get off most of the paint. Next, clean them with mineral spirits (instead of turpentine: it works the same and costs less). Odorless spirits have the same fumes, just no smell. You can use two containers for the mineral spirits: soak your brushes in one, and after the sediment settles to the bottom, pour the clean spirits into the other container. A wire screen will keep the brushes off the bottom of the can. Finally, wash the brushes in designated sinks. Cans, jars, and screens are available at the Student Store. Use liquid instead of bar soap;

it prevents clogging drains. Never put turpentine or mineral spirits in the sink or other drains or pour them in the fields. We'll show you disposal locations.

Leaving School

We ask all students to vacate their rooms and studios on departure day so that we may prepare for the next session. For students travelling between sessions, there will be places designated to leave your things. A bus will transport departing students with their baggage to the airport in Rome, arriving at the airport at about 9:30 AM as follows:

- School: 7 AM on Saturday June 14; July 5; July 26; August 16
- CE and Residence: 7 AM on Saturday May 24; August 30; Sept. 20; Oct. 4
- Seminar: 7 AM on Saturday August 30

While it's tempting to work in our studios until the minute we leave, the last Friday of the session is studio clean-up day. You must leave your studio the way you found it when you arrived. School students must remit a security deposit of € 100 with their fees against damages, lost keys, or excessive cleaning. This deposit, less any deductions or outstanding fees, will be refunded after the end of the program.

A few days before departure, make sure you are taking only what you can carry yourself. Plan ahead: if it looks like you can't transport it, take some time in advance to look into shipping options. Canvases and drawings can be rolled up in plastic sewer pipe (available at the Student Art Supply Store) and shipped home or packed in a bicycle box (available at the airline counter at the airport), and carried on board.

Shipping

Anything shipped into or out of Italy to a non-EU country is subject to customs taxes. To avoid paying the 20% tax you must declare NO COMMERCIAL VALUE. However, if no value is declared, it can't be insured.

There is a small post office in Montecastello. The post office requires each box be completely sealed (no masking tape), with no markings other than the sender and addressee information. By surface mail, your things should arrive in 1-2 months, express mail - 1 week, air mail - about 2-3 weeks. The postal service to the US is very reliable.

UPS costs about 60% more. Mail Boxes Etc. has a store in Perugia. They will pick up, pack and ship. Tel. 075 5011798 or fax 075 5011773, or email mbe251@mbe.it. UPS pick-up service is also available. We will help you get boxes and arrange for pickups, but please take the responsibility to pack your things yourself, weigh them, and fill out the appropriate documents. We will provide you with customs forms. Three customs forms must be filled out for each box. Make a list of the contents of each box with one declaration for each box, signed and dated. Write: Descrizione: Merce senza alcun valore commerciale. Valore ai soli fini doganali: 10,00 Euro. (Goods with no commercial value. Customs value $10.) This is the minimum customs declaration allowable. Boxes must be securely packed.

ROME Trip Guide

Tips: Most people can only see two museums and some churches in one day. We suggest that you stay over or plan other trips on your own to Rome during the summer. You can travel around in Rome on the Metro. In August, Rome is hot, but not crowded. Most museums are closed Mondays. Some museums offer discounts to seniors and people aged under 25. We also recommend that you are able to have your shoulders and thighs covered for the trips. There are actually guards who check your appearance at the entrance to the Vatican and certain churches. Remember, churches are not museums.

Galleries and Museums

Galleria Borghese

Villa Borghese, Piazza Scipione Borghese 5. Tel. bookings 06 32810. Tues-Sun. 8.30-19.30. Tickets are sold for 2-hour visits, odd hours, booking is mandatory. Sculpture by Canova, Bernini. # AREZZO / MONTERCHI / SANSEPOLCRO Trip Guide

This trip focuses on the work of Piero della Francesca, (1420-1492).

AREZZO

Basilica of San Francesco

Bacci Chapel - Piazza San Francesco. 9-19, Sat. 9-18, Sun. 13-18, closed June 13. Tel. 0575 70713. Piero's masterpiece (1453-64) The Legend of the True Cross. In restoration but guided viewing is allowed. Reservation necessary tel. 0575 184.00.00, € 6.00

Based on an obscure history of the Cross: a tree is planted on Adam's grave, which Solomon tries to use in the building of the Temple. When the Queen of Sheba sees the wood she has a premonition that from it will come the end of the reign of the Jews. Solomon, to thwart the prophecy, has the wood submerged in a pond; but it returns to the surface, and is used to build the Cross upon which Christ is crucified. Three hundred years later, on the eve of his battle at the Milvian Bridge, Constantine sees a vision: an angel appears to him and exhorts him to fight under the sign of the Cross. Constantine does, and becomes Emperor of Rome. Converted to Christianity, he sends his mother, Helena, to Jerusalem in search of the wood of the True Cross. Only a Jew by the name of Judas knows its whereabouts, and he refuses to speak. The Empress Helena has him thrown into a well; when he is brought out seven days later, Judas reveals that the Cross is buried beneath a temple dedicated to Venus. The temple is destroyed, and the three crosses of Calvary are brought to light. The True Cross is recognized when a dead youth is restored to life by touching it. Helena brings the relic back to Jerusalem.
(From Ginzburg, The Enigma of Piero.)

Badia SS. Flora e Lucilla - Piazza della Badia, 3 - Dome with a trompe l'oeil fresco by Andrea Pozzo (1703).

Chiesa di San Lorenzo - Via Santa Croce; Deposition of Rosso Fiorentino.

MONTERCHI

Madonna del Parto - 9-13, 14-19. Piero's fresco, the pregnant Madonna. Only one painting but well worth the trip. Heavily restored.

URBINO

The castle of Federico di Montefeltro is an architectural allegory of the renaissance state, a palace open to the circulation of people and ideas: solid and harmonious, rational in its functionality and internal organization, a city in the form of a palace with the idea of becoming the center of a new model of civilization (Luciano di Laurana, 1465, architect, completed by Francesco di Giorgio Martini, and Girolamo Genga). Federico was a successful condottiere, a skillful diplomat and an enthusiastic patron of art and literature. At his court Piero della Francesca wrote on the science of perspective, Francesco di Giorgio Martini his Trattato di architettura ("Treatise on Architecture") and Raphael's father Giovanni Santi his poetical account of the chief artists of his time. Federico's brilliant court, through the descriptions in Baldassare Castiglione's The Book of the Courtier, set standards of what characterized a "gentleman" in early modern Europe.

Galleria Nazionale delle Marche

TODI

Todi, a chic and beautiful medieval hill town with a magnificent central piazza surrounded by Gothic towers, is 15 minutes from Montecastello by car.

Church of Santa Maria della Consolazione, just outside the city, may have been designed by Bramante or Antonio da Sangallo: it's a beautiful renaissance construction of the 16C based on a sphere and a cube.

Convento di Montesanto, in the oldest part of Todi. The Etruscan bronze Mars of Todi, now in the Vatican Museum, was found there. There is an ancient linden tree that was planted (some say) in the 14C by San Bernardino. St. Jacopone, the medieval poet was born in Todi.

Church of San Fortunato, on the highest part of Todi, has a small fresco by Masolino. But much more interesting are the relief sculptures around the main doorway: Jacopo della Quercia worked here. Built in the 13-15C.

Etruscan arch - The center of the city was first built by the Umbrians, then Etruscans, then Romans, and later expanded in the medieval and Gothic periods.

Piazza del Popolo - One of the most perfect medieval piazzas in Italy, built 1213. Originally, like many piazzas in Italy, it was the Roman forum.

Palazzo dei Priori - a beautiful 14C building with a trapezoidal tower, facing the Duomo in the piazza.

Palazzo del Capitano - Palazzo del Popolo - Pinacoteca - Palazzi Comunali, Piazza del Popolo, 075 8956216. 10.30-13, 14-18. On the upper floors, the history of the town and its environs: prehistoric, protohistoric, Umbrian, Etruscan and Roman, coins, textiles, ceramics; paintings: Giovanni di Pietro (Lo Spagna), and the Sala del Consiglio Generale and Sala del Capitano del Popolo, entirely frescoed during the 17-18 C.

For a preview of Todi, see "The Agony and the Ecstasy" starring Charlton Heston and Rex Harrison, 1965. The Rome shots are actually shot in Todi. Todi has many good restaurants (try the tagliatelle al tartufo at Ristorante Umbria in the piazza, tel. 075 8942737, or Sunday brunch by the pool at the Fattoria di Vibio in Doglio, tel. 075 8749607, or fresh fish at Ristorante Sebeto, tel. 075 8944400, or the homemade pasta al forno and local meat at Trattoria Pisello on the road to Orvieto, tel. 0744 958242, to name just a few). There is a theatre, an abstract art gallery (Extra Moenia Arte Contemporanea, Piazza Garibaldi Tel. 075 8944867), and many antique shops and food stores. At the Saturday morning market just outside of town, merchants sell clothes, shoes, housewares and produce. At Lo Studiolo bookstore, near the Etruscan arch, you can buy art books and antiques. Up the street is Pianegiani's, with some of the best gelato in Umbria (if you don't believe us, try the all others and see). The Todi Arte Festival in July brings together musicians and artists from all over the world.

For the ultimate people-watching experience, sit outside the Gran Caffè Duomo in the piazza. All important business takes place in the piazza. Men stroll around together in clumps, flicking cigarettes, adjusting their sleeves and sunglasses, discussing sports and politics, and talking on "telefonini". Boys in cars and mopeds cruise by slowly, stopping in the middle of the street to flirt with girls or chat.

The Tourist Office - Mon-Sat, 9-13 and 16-18.30, tel. 075 8943456 or 075 8942526, under the great stairs in the piazza, has information on public transportation, and on Todi and Umbria, and has metered telephones.

Bank Hours are 8.30-13.20, and 14.30-15.30. Mon - Fri. ATM (Bancomat): 24 hours.

Taxis and car rentals:

Taxi, Piazza Garibaldi - Tel. 075 8942375 / Piazza Jacopone, - Tel. 075 8942525

Jody Joseph's Mosquito Supplement

Here are a few thoughts on staying comfortable in Montecastello if you have problems with mosquito bites. I speak from experience having spent parts of many summers in this little piece of paradise. I've coped with the problem for myself and have advised others successfully.

In my experience, about 15 percent of the people at the school seem to be sensitive to the bites. The mosquitoes are really tiny -- almost impossible to see -- but I have seen them and seen them biting me. I only tell you this because people affected tend not to believe they are getting bitten (because they don't see any bugs) and they get all kinds of ideas about what is happening—food allergies, bed bugs, skin rashes - causing them to go through lots of ineffective “treatments.” People affected tend to get bites which swell, are very hot and itchy, and don’t go away in the normal mosquito bite amount of time -- they can last weeks, unfortunately. Some people get lots of these bites, others just one or two bad ones. (Other people get “normal” bites, are not really bothered by them and the bites go away quickly.)

I have found two things to be most effective in treating the reaction to the bites. The first is antihistamines (pills, not creams which do not work at all in my experience). I bring two prescription antihistamines with me to Italy, and you may want to talk to your doctor about doing the same, just in case. For what it’s worth, the two antihistamines were prescribed for me by the head of the Department of Dermatology at a major university medical center, who diagnosed the problem as a hive-like reaction to insect bites. I have never had any other kind of “hives,” so just because you haven’t may not mean you won’t have the problem. The doctor recommended two different medications because they work on two different kinds of allergic responses the body generates to the bites. The prescriptions and doses for me are: Cimetidine, 300mg, 1 tablet 4 times a day (also known as Tagamet, and is usually prescribed for stomach problems, though it is an antihistamine) and Atarax, 25mg, one tablet at night. I don’t take these medications unless I have a problem with the bites (some years I haven’t had to take any; one year I took lots.)

Tagamet is available in the States over-the-counter. Last summer, people had good success using just this when they had reactions to bites and they liked it better than Benadryl because it didn’t make them tired. “Calmogel,” a topical cream available in Italian pharmacies without prescription, is also very good at relieving itching.

Obviously, you need to talk to your doctor about whether these drugs would be appropriate for you, but if you are someone who has reactions to bites, I recommend checking it out before you come to Italy, since these specific medications are not what are prescribed there. Other oral antihistamines seem to work too - I’ve seen people get relief with Benedryl (over the counter) and also from other prescription antihistamines which the doctor in Montecastello has prescribed for students.

The other thing that REALLY helps with the itching is a topical roll-on stick called “After Bite - the Itch Eraser” distributed by the Tender Corp., Box 290, Littleton NH 03561 USA. It’s just ammonia, and it stings a little bit when you dab it on, but it works. The similar looking Benedryl “anti-itch” stick does NOT work, in my experience. If you can’t find “After Bite”, Italian pharmacies, including the one in town, stock a similar product. Some people find that an over the counter cortisone cream helps the itching in mild reactions—buy it at home before coming to Italy where you need a prescription to get it. The other thing you may want to bring is an over the counter antibiotic cream to dab on bites that are getting scratched a lot.

As for prevention, covering up helps in controlling bites (long sleeves, socks, long pants). It’s also often quite warm though, so bring very lightweight, light colored clothing, including something to sleep in. You will not be happy painting outside on a hot day in jeans and a black long sleeve shirt. Insect repellents containing DEET help. I usually bring the stronger concentration formula -- often called something like “Woodsmen” or “Backcountry.” In bedrooms and apartments, close windows and shutters every time you leave (this will also help keep your rooms cool). Some people also purchase a “vape” (pronounced “VA-pay”) in local grocery stores to use in your room and/ or studio. It’s a small device that plugs into an outlet and gradually releases insecticide.

If you feel you are getting bit at night: turn on your bedside lamp and aim it at the wall above your bed. Look for the very small shadows these little mosquitoes cast, and kill them with a magazine or book. You have to be very fast, but if you're successful, this really helps! (Editor's note: But you will have to clean the wall...)

On the positive side: you probably won't have any problems, since most people don't. Some years no one has problems. Montecastello and the school are so wonderful that you have a great time regardless! - JJ

Viper Supplement

I've been in and around Montecastello since 1986, and have never been bitten by a viper, much less actually seen one, except in the zoo. But since they are out there, and some of you are landscapers, here is some information about vipers, what they look like, and what to do if one bites. - MS

Viper, common name for snakes in a family of venomous snakes, characterized by a pair of long, hollow fangs, usually with reserve fangs beside them, in the front of the upper jaw. The fangs fold back against the palate when not in use and quickly swing forward to strike, injecting a deadly venom that kills prey and also serves as a defence. The viper generally has a broad, triangular head, and the eyes have vertical pupils. Most vipers give birth to living young from eggs hatched inside the mother's body.

For Goodness Snakes! Treating and Preventing Venomous Bites

First Aid for Snakebites

Over the years, snakebite victims have been exposed to all kinds of slicing, freezing and squeezing as stopgap measures before receiving medical care. Some of these approaches, like cutting into a bite and attempting to suck out the venom, have largely fallen out of favor.

"In the past five or 10 years, there's been a backing off in first aid from really invasive things like making incisions," says Arizona physician David Hardy, M.D., who studies snakebite epidemiology. "This is because we now know these things can do harm and we don't know if they really change the outcome."

Many health-care professionals embrace just a few basic first-aid techniques. According to the American Red Cross, these steps should be taken:

- Wash the bite with soap and water.
- Immobilize the bitten area and keep it lower than the heart.
- Get medical help.

"The main thing is to get to a hospital and don't delay," says Hardy. "Most bites don't occur in real isolated situations, so it is feasible to get prompt [medical care]." He describes cases in Arizona where people have caught rattlesnakes for sport and gotten bitten. "They waited until they couldn't stand the pain anymore and finally went to the hospital after the venom had been in there a few hours. But by then, they'd lost an opportunity for [effective treatment]," which increased the odds of long-term complications. Some medical professionals, along with the American Red Cross, cautiously recommend two other measures:

If a victim is unable to reach medical care within 30 minutes, a bandage, wrapped two to four inches above the bite, may help slow venom. The bandage should not cut off blood flow from a vein or artery. A good rule of thumb is to make the band loose enough that a finger can slip under it. A suction device may be placed over the bite to help draw venom out of the wound without making cuts. Suction instruments often are included in commercial snakebite kits.

Avoiding Snakebites

Some bites, such as those inflicted when snakes are accidentally stepped on or encountered in wilderness settings, are nearly impossible to prevent. But experts say a few precautions can lower the risk of being bitten:

- Leave snakes alone. Many people are bitten because they try to kill a snake or get a closer look at it.
- Stay out of tall grass unless you wear thick leather boots, and remain on hiking paths as much as possible.
- Keep hands and feet out of areas you can't see. Don't pick up rocks or firewood unless you are out of a snake's striking distance. (A snake can strike half its length, Hardy says.)
- Be cautious and alert when climbing rocks.

What do you do if you encounter a snake when hiking or picnicking? Says Hardy: "Just walk around the snake, giving it a little berth--six feet is plenty. But leave it alone and don't try to catch it."

John Henkel is a staff writer for FDA Consumer.

How NOT to Treat a Snakebite

Though U.S. medical professionals may not agree on every aspect of what to do for snakebite first aid, they are nearly unanimous in their views of what not to do. Among their recommendations:

- No ice or any other type of cooling on the bite. Research has shown this to be potentially harmful.
- No tourniquets. This cuts blood flow completely and may result in loss of the affected limb.
- No electric shock. This method is under study and has yet to be proven effective. It could harm the victim.
- No incisions in the wound. Such measures have not been proven useful and may cause further injury.

Arizona physician David Hardy, M.D., says part of the problem when someone is bitten is the element of surprise. "People often aren't trained in what to do, and they are in a panic situation." He adds that preparation--which includes knowing in advance how to get to the nearest hospital--could greatly reduce anxiety and lead to more effective care.

Editor's note:

Many people ask if there is a serum or antidote that they can take with them when they paint out in the landscape. Unfortunately, more people were being killed by the antidotes than by vipers, so they were all taken off the market.
